

You can install ZENworks Mobile Management 2.9 without a product license in order to evaluate the product. During the evaluation period, the product is fully functional.

Evaluation Period

The evaluation period is 60 days. After the evaluation period ends, management policies are no longer enforced on mobile devices.

At any time during or after the evaluation period, you can enter a product license to continue using ZENworks Mobile Management 2.9 beyond the evaluation period.

Extending the Evaluation Period

You can request an extension to your 60-day evaluation by contacting a Novell Sales Representative. If you do not already have a representative, visit the Novell How to Buy site to request a call or visit.

Installing ZENworks Mobile Management

Installation instructions are provided in the Server Installation guide.

Updating ZENworks Mobile Management During the Evaluation Period

You can receive product updates during the evaluation period. Updates are downloaded and installed through the Update Manager.

To receive updates through the Update Manager, you must provide your Novell login credentials. You can use the same credentials used to log in and download the product. If you have forgotten your Novell login credentials or need to create a new account, see the Novell Login site.

For information about using the Update Manager, see the Update Management guide.